TASCO® INTRODUCES FOUR NEW WORLD CLASS® SPOTTING SCOPES

Overland Park, KS — Tasco is the leader in value-priced optics, and four new porro prism World Class spotting scopes continue that tradition. The new models include two full size and two compact spotting scopes that are perfect for any field sport from hunting to birding to watching sports.

The new 15-45x50mm World Class features a 50mm objective lens for brighter images at any magnification. It has fully coated optics, BK7 prisms, convenient focusing and zoom adjustments and a convertible car window mount and tripod. Retail price is $99.

The 20-60x60mm spotting scope offers even greater zoom magnification. The larger 60mm diameter objective lens efficiently gathers light for better viewing during low light and is ideal for hunting or casual stargazing. Both models come with a soft carry case for use in the field and a hard carrying case. Retail price is $109.

The new compact models — a 20x50mm and 12-36x50mm zoom — offer value, performance and portability to birders, hunters and naturalists. The fixed power 20x model will appeal to birders and naturalists with its wider field of view and ability to quickly focus on subjects. The 12-36x-zoom model will bring songbirds or wild game into sharp focus at any distance.

Both models feature a 50mm objective lens for brighter images at any magnification. They also have BK7 porro prisms with fully coated optics, a car window mount and tripod, and soft case and hard carrying case. Rubber armoring provides additional protection in the field.

The new World Class spotting scopes are covered by a Limited Lifetime Warranty and will be available in February of 2006 at Tasco dealers nationwide. For more information, visit the Tasco Web site at <http://www.tasco.com>.
